What Every Car Owner Should Know

Written by the Whole Caboodle Agency LLP

Perrys in Bletchley is a premier supplier for Peugeot and Citroen, supplying a range of both new and used vehicles alike. Established in 1908, Perrys has over 100 years of car sales experience and is now one of the UK's premier franchised car dealers. Since joining the group in the 1960s as a Ford dealership, the site has grown considerably offering an extensive range of vehicles in all makes, models and ages. Perrys' Bletchley used car site offers Milton Keynes residents the largest variety of used cars in the region. With over 200 vehicles on site, the dealership is proud to have the largest car stock in town, despite claims from competitors stating that they are bigger!

Regularly recognised by motor industry awards the dealership, on Bilton Road, offers unrivalled levels of customer service, together with a transparent pricing policy to ensure that customers can be confident that there are no hidden costs when buying their chosen vehicle. At Perrys, the price that is displayed on a vehicle is the price you will pay unlike other car dealers who often add documentation fees on top of the advertised price.

Customers can also be assured that when they collect their new car, their vehicle will be fully serviced by Perrys expert factory trained technicians. "Many dealerships only do a simple safety check rather than a full pre-sale service which can result in a customer being hit with substantial additional costs for expensive new brakes or tyres which may only come to light once the vehicle is serviced," stated Stephen Thompson, Perrys Used Car Sales Manager.

The only vehicles not to receive the Perrys servicing guarantee are those which have just been serviced prior to the sale by the previous owner.

Stephen Thompson continued: "At Perrys we aim to accommodate the needs of our customers and give them the best service and advice possible when purchasing a new car. We don't want them to encounter any hidden extras – we just want them to enjoy driving away their new vehicle safe in the knowledge that Perrys has done everything possible to ensure their safety."

Blast from the past Perrys mobile Ford stores. While Perrys Milton Keynes still sell used Ford vehicles the dealership is now Citroen and Peugeots' main dealer in the region.

It is important for a customer to remember when they are buying a new vehicle, they need to consider the amount that they will get in part exchange for the car they are selling. "Part exchange prices can make or break a deal" added Stephen. If a car is being advertised at a dealership for £700 less than another, but the other dealership offer £1000 less for your car in part exchange, you are in effect paying £300 more for the car, even though the other car may initially appear cheaper.

Perrys' Stephen Thompson concluded: "It is also worth considering factors such as additional costs for documentation fees and whether the vehicle has been serviced prior to purchase when looking into your price comparison decision."

Together with Perrys' excellent customer service and unmissable offers, visit the dealership on Bilton Road today to find a car to meet your every need.

Prison cell new home for squatter conman

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MAN who posed as an affluent businessman to scam thousands of pounds out of house sellers by squatting in their vacant properties has been jailed.

Richard Jerome, 62, was sentenced to 15 months at Huntingdon Crown Court yesterday after pleading guilty to fraud.

His wife Hazel, 60, a retired school teacher was given a 10-month term suspended for two years, with a two month night-time curfew.

Recorder Miss McAllister, sentencing Richard Jerome, said: "You formed a pattern of promises and systematic deceit on a number of different people over a considerable period of time."

The scam started in March 2006 when the couple offered cash to buy a £250,000 property in Bradville from a work colleague of Hazel Jerome, Janet Jarvis.

Jerome was unemployed with no income and his wife earned £30,000 a year as a teacher at Willen Combined School.

They offered to rent the property until the sale was completed. Once in the property they failed to pay the agreed rent and refused to leave.

It took 12 months for the couple to be evicted through the county court. The owners lost £8,000, £4,000 of which was clawed back by the courts.

The couple repeated the scam in March 2007 on a £575,000 thatched cottage in Stoke Hammond, owned by a top criminal barrister, Marion Smullen QC. They were finally evicted in September 2007 after failing to pay any rent.

Prosecutor Peter Coombes said that Mrs Smullen, whose husband died while the case was going through the courts, lost £167,000 including a £55,000 deposit which was never paid, £6,241 rent, loss of value in the home which eventually sold for £475,000 plus legal costs.

He added: "It doesn't begin to measure the amount of emotional upset that was caused by what went on."

Stephen Donnelly, defending Richard Jerome, claimed he was a victim of a scam and was tricked into giving a businessman in the Dominican Republic money with a promise of great returns.

"He then started to effectively live the life offering guarantees to others having been offered guarantees himself."

Karen Walton, defending Hazel Jerome, said she was 'duped' by her husband.

The couple, who live in McCorquodale Road, Wolverton, previously pleaded guilty to two charges of fraud.

Richard Jerome also pleaded guilty to an additional charge of fraud, in relation to failing to pay rental for hire cars, and a charge of obtaining money by deception.

Recently retired Detective Sergeant John Baston, who investigated the case, told MK NEWS: "They are villains who preyed on people's generosity and a little bit of gullibility. They are a cold, calculated couple."

"We hope this result may encourage other people who have been a victim of any similar cases to come forward."

Nick Jarvis, whose wife Janet died of cancer before the Jeromes were charged, said: "My wife worked with Hazel Jerome for twelve years. They were good friends, that is why she felt so betrayed."

"The money never mattered to her, she would be glad that justice has been done."

Ken Chaproniere, far right, leads Gertrude the ewe across London bridge

Toastmaster wants to be seen and herd

A TOASTMASTER has exercised his ancient right to herd sheep across London Bridge.

As a professional master of ceremonies Ken Chaproniere, 60, from Monkston Park is no stranger to public events.

But as a Freeman of the City of London, he participated in 'the most unusual thing I have ever done' to raise money for Cancer Research UK.

He and 60 other Freeman took part in an eccentric event organised by the Lord Mayor, taking 14 sheep across the bridge.

He said: "It was very odd. The traffic had been stopped for us. It was certainly an interesting day - certainly one I don't normally have. I'm quite up for a laugh, but I felt ridiculous dressed as a shepherd. But for charity I will do anything, as long as it's legal."

Mr Chaproniere was nominated for the honour last year for 'upholding the traditions of Englishness'.

Other rights include setting up a stall in London without permission or taking his sword unsheathed into the City. The father of four can even to be escorted home by the magistrate if found drunk in the area, though he says he has 'no plans to test this privilege out'.

Council coffers come up short

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

CUTBACKS in council spending are expected after the state of its finances has been laid bare.

Leader Sam Crooks says his Lib Dem cabinet is considering reductions in 'back office' bureaucracy and consultants, as well as offering staff voluntary redundancy.

It follows a report, due to be presented to councillors on Tuesday, which accuses the authority of an unacceptable level of 'slippage'.

This includes a £1.3million funding shortfall in the refurbishment of Bletchley Leisure Centre.

The council, which has a budget of half a billion pounds, has failed to make the £2million efficiency savings it previously planned.

Meanwhile its reserves have dipped below £8million, the level which is considered safe.

Another report reveals that school builds Hazeley, Oxley Park, Walton High and Caroline Haslett 'did not provide value for money'.

The Radcliffe School continues to owe the coffers £2.8 million.

Income from planning, leisure facilities and council tax has dropped due to the downturn.

Cllr Crooks has increased his target of making £7million savings by April 2010 to £12million.

He said: "We know we've got to face up to the implications of the recession. What we're trying to do is to prepare for what are going to be rough years to come.

"I'm determined to protect front-line services, such as social workers, which are so important at times like these."

The Audit Committee, chaired by Labour Cllr Brian White, has decided that staff who manage money should get budget training.

He said: "We've got a problem with the way the council finances are being run. All the budget holders should ask themselves 'is the work I'm doing achieving the council's objectives?' In my view, most would not be able to answer yes."

Firm guilty of safety lapse after cleaner dies in meat shredder

A MEAT processing company has pleaded guilty to breaching health and safety law after a cleaner died of head injuries at its factory.

DeliCo Ltd appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court on Friday in relation to the death of Lynda Trebilcock who suffered serious head injuries at its factory in Tattenhoe on Saturday, May 19, 2007.

The court heard Mrs Trebilcock, 53, from Arncliffe Drive, Heelands was employed as a cleaning team leader and had been inspecting a blender in the fresh meat processing department after it had been cleaned in the early hours of the morning.

It is believed Mrs Trebilcock had crouched beneath the machine, which is used to shred meat, to inspect a flap.

Prosecutor Geoffrey Knipe said: "The machine had a proximity switch to check there was a large metal container to receive the meat when it came out of the flap. At times the company was using a plastic container so to bypass the proximity switch and keep the flap open they were using a metal clipboard.

"It can only be assumed that someone, possibly Mrs Trebilcock herself, hit this metal clipboard and knocked it from the switch, causing the flap to close on her head and she died as a result."

The Health and Safety Executive investigated and found numerous problems of 'inadequate instruction, training and supervision', Mr Knipe added.

DeliCo Ltd is owned by Cranswick Convenience Foods Plc, which acquired the company in 2006. John Hall, defending, said following the take-over, Cranswick had begun reviewing all health and safety practices to put 'proper systems in place and bring it in line with the group's high standards'.

DeliCo Ltd pleaded guilty to breaching its duty to ensure the health, safety and welfare at work of its employees and will be sentenced at Aylesbury Crown Court on a date to be set.

MK NEWS launches football World Cup host city campaign

Back the bid

TODAY MK NEWS launches a campaign supporting England's World Cup bid and backs Milton Keynes to become a host city.

This newspaper is asking you to show how much you want to see the World Cup in Milton Keynes, by registering your support online and encouraging all your friends and family to do the same.

Fifteen cities and towns have been shortlisted as bases for the 2018 or 2022 FIFA World Cup, should England be chosen as the staging country, but only 12 are likely to make the final cut in December.

MK NEWS revealed in May that the city had launched its bid to be a venue where group games would be played and training facilities for international teams would be set up.

If successful it would see MK Dons' stadium transformed into a 40,000 seater venue for the prestigious tournament.

When England's bid was launched at Wembley, Dons chairman Pete Winkelman told MK NEWS sports reporter Simone Corgan: "I'm proud of what our city is able to achieve when it puts it's mind to it."

"I think Milton Keynes has the potential to excite and interest everyone around the world."

"We thrive on the challenges, thrive on the obstacles and to be an international host city in front of billions of people who will watch this tournament, for it to be in Milton Keynes it would be a little bit special."

On Tuesday judges from the Football Association will visit to assess the suitability as a host city for the World Cup.

A special consortium is busy working with members of the community to demonstrate that Milton Keynes is a good potential host city with the right facilities and transport links.

Selected cities will benefit from upgraded infrastructure, new jobs and improved sports facilities, not to mention the boost to tourism, hotels and accommodation.

The other candidates are Birmingham, Leicester, Derby, Hull, Leeds, Portsmouth, Liverpool, London, Manchester, Bristol, Newcastle/Gateshead, Nottingham, Sheffield and Sunderland.

Mr Winkelman added: "It's now time for our residents to speak up and show the FA that they are as proud of this city as we are."

"We want everyone, football fans or not, to log on and support our bid."

Dignitaries from across the city have sent an 88-page document called 'Open for the World' to the FA to convince them to bring the World Cup to Milton Keynes.

Hit-and-run cyclist leaves toddler bleeding on redway

Injured: Shae Rowlands

THESE are the gruesome injuries of a three-year-old boy who was left bleeding on the concrete by a cyclist who ploughed into him.

The hit-and-run biker fled after speeding over Shae Rowlands as he walked with his family, through the underpass between Milton Keynes Hospital and Netherfield at 11.45am on Monday.

The photo shows lacerations to the child's head and mouth, as well as serious swelling, but Shae also lost a tooth, broke another, and injured his elbow.

Mum, Kayleigh Watson, 22, from Serpentine Court, Bletchley, said: "My little boy was just in front of me. All of a sudden this bike came up behind us and ploughed him down. He got tangled under the bike and the spikes from the chain went into his head."

"The bloke nearly hit me and my baby too, he didn't even brake.

"He stopped for a moment and I was screaming but he didn't say anything, he just rode off."

"He had no remorse but I hope he will come forward when he sees the picture."

"It was a horrible experience." The cyclist rode off towards Coffee Hall and Miss Watson rushed her son into A&E, where doctors treated his wounds.

The offender is an Asian man, aged 35 to 40 years, approximately 5ft 8ins, slim, with short black, untidy hair, a black moustache and a closely-trimmed beard.

He was wearing a brown waist-length jacket, blue jeans and rode a red mountain bike.

Going grey in the face over thought of smelly kitchen waste bins

SIR – Regarding M Walsh's letter about the new grey food waste bins – I couldn't agree more with his comments.

However, I am all for recycling whatever I can, whenever I can, but I notice that the council stipulates that we are not permitted to leave these out for collection by the bin-men, which simply begs the question – why have we been having the things doled out to us?

If we are to do as the council instructs us by putting our food waste into the grey bin and then transferring it into the large green wheelie one for collection, all it means is that you then have two bins to try and keep clean rather than just one smaller one.

Not only does it therefore make the exercise of filling the grey bin in the first place utterly pointless, but for a significant number of people (for instance the elderly or disabled) it is completely impractical for them to keep having to clean out their green wheelie bin. It is awkward enough for a reasonably fit, healthy 30-something like myself.

And obviously even if, like myself, you rarely have any green waste and you therefore line the green bin to deposit food into it, you would still need to change the lining at the bottom and clean the bin every so often to minimise unpleasant smells.

Let's face it, even in summer months, most of us will still have more weeks than not that we don't have any green waste to be collected.

It just makes a nonsense of the whole process of wheeling out a whacking great bin (which is only ever likely to be perhaps one third full at the most for an average household most weeks anyway) when life instead could be made so much easier and more convenient for householders and for the bin-men by allowing food to be collected straight from the smaller grey bins.

Although even if this more sensible practice were to be employed, the grey bins as they are would still not be suitable anyhow, as they only have a flip-top lid rather than a lockable one.

Needless to say, unless this scheme is tweaked I won't be bothering to use my grey bin either (along with countless other households, I don't doubt) - the council quite obviously just has not thought this through at all.

■ SIR – I am writing in response to the article published in last week's MK NEWS concerning the new grey food waste bin.

Growing People (and veg) to be applauded

SIR – It was fantastic to read in your paper last week the story about the young people involved in the urban farm in Wolverton.

People like Heather Talbot, who is the Growing People project leader, deserve to be recognised within the community for the work that they do.

I hope Wolverton and Greenleys Town Council continues to let them have the land, possibly rent free in the future, so that wonderful community involved ideas like this can continue to flourish.

These youngsters must feel an immense amount of pride when they are able to grow their own vegetables and then sell them on.

Let's have more of these kind of projects within our communities.

Mrs A Joyce
Aylesbury Street, Wolverton

I totally agree with M Walsh, my reaction was the same when the grey bins were delivered,

I couldn't get my head around the significance of it: it brought back memories of my childhood living in Southampton.

In the late 50s and 60s we had a small silver coloured 'pig bin' kept in the back garden to put vegetable peelings in and it was, as I recall, collected by dustmen and, I assume, used as pig food.

But I can't remember when or why the council stopped it.

I do recall it being a bit of a health hazard, always attracting unwanted vermin and insects, my mum used to regularly bleach it but it didn't help.

I can't think why someone thought the grey bin would be a good idea and clearly didn't think it through.

I will not be using my grey bin as I hate clearing smelly dirty bins when it's unnecessary.

Mrs M Turner
Cartmell Close, Bletchley

■ SIR – I just wanted to comment on the new food and garden waste scheme.

I think it is fantastic and I am relieved that such a scheme has come to MK.

I can see this contributing to the decline of rats and other animals ripping into the black sacks for food.

The little grey box is excellent in my kitchen, I hope everyone takes part because it is an easy and worthwhile scheme.

It is keeping our homes cleaner, (no smelly food in our kitchen bins), our streets cleaner and the planet safer.

I love Milton Keynes and I love this scheme, well done to you all for successfully rolling out this scheme.

What happened to phone-fried brains?

SIR – The report that Cllr Tamigini-Barbosa is campaigning against the spread of phone masts reminds me of the massive interest in the harmful effects of mobile phone and phone mast radiation that was debated enthusiastically in the media three or four years ago.

We were all going to be affected by all sorts of brain cancers, etc. Has anyone heard that it was all imagined or is it another one of those 'hot' debates that has died a death?

But if the questions have not been answered who is looking into it?

It would be nice to know that someone is.

Trevor Best
Turnmill Avenue, Springfield

Redways at risk

SIR – When Milton Keynes was designed, the wonderful redway system was put in to keep bikes and pedestrians away from motor traffic.

Beside Watling Street, almost opposite the Favell Drive junction, a car wash is being built.

This car wash has already had an access and exit road cut across the redway, which is going to cause problems with cars once it is operational.

Contractors' cars are already starting to park on this section of the redway.

Once the carwash gets under way, the natural place for customers to queue is Watling Street, which will impact on access to The Bowl, or they will use the redway, blocking it further.

Both walkers and cyclists are going to have problems getting past the entrance and exit roads and on concert days, when that part of Watling Street is closed, what is the carwash going to do?

Seems like a very poorly thought out use of land by the planners.

Name and address supplied

Loos a disgrace

SIR – How surprising that a million visitors have visited Willen Lake – and by the looks of the toilets they all must have used them. What a disgrace!!!!

There are two ladies toilets, it is so small that the door is permanently open because two people can't pass in the entrance, there's never any soap, loo paper and only cold water.

I thought perhaps when they started charging for parking, that at least some of the revenue would be used for the benefit of visitors to this prestigious venue.

How wrong I was.

In the two years since this charging has applied the situation at the toilets has progressively deteriorated.

The toilet block has no facilities for baby changing at all. It is really close to the cafe and children's activity area – just a place where youngsters would need to use some decent toilets.

Its about time something was done before people abandon this area for better facilities elsewhere – as I have done.

Dog's owner could not afford vet visit

Five year ban for man who caused suffering to rottweiler

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A MAN was banned from keeping dogs for five years after failing to provide veterinary care to his sick rottweiler.

William Owen, 46, from Woolmans, Fullers Slade, appeared at Milton Keynes Magistrates Court on Friday after previously pleading guilty to causing unnecessary suffering to a rottweiler named Shyla.

The dog was found at Mr Owen's home address by inspector Kirsty Hampton on December 14, 2008.

RSPCA Prosecutor Janita Patel said: "She was invited into the property and found the dog in the kitchen obviously extremely thin, staring at the cupboard and not responding. As she put it in the van she noted that the dog cried out in pain."

Owen signed Shyla over to the RSPCA's care and it was taken to veterinary surgeon Chris Parratt to be examined.

Miss Patel added: "Chris Parratt said the dog was very thin, its ribs

William Owen's pet rottweiler Shyla was put down were prominent and its skin had lost elasticity which shows dehydration. In his opinion the fact the dog was in obvious pain, in poor bodily condition and was emitting red urine should have prompted a reasonable person to seek veterinary treatment."

After 48 hours the dog's condition had not improved and it was put down.

Dean Price, defending, said Owen had owned the dog for more than two years and it had been healthy until a month before the inspector's visit.

Mr Price said: "He saw the dog wasting away and thought it was due to illness but could not afford to take it to a vet."

Owen was also sentenced to 70 hours of unpaid work and must pay court costs of £500.

Sledge death an accident

A TALENTED student was unaware of any danger when she joined her flatmate on an inflatable snow ring that would carry her to a tragic death.

On Friday, Milton Keynes Coroner's Court heard the testimony of Yelena Sokolova, 27, who described Urszula Grubb's last moments on a snowy slope in an Austrian park.

Urszula, a former St Paul's student from Shenley Lodge, suffered fatal head injuries when their unorthodox sledge hit a tree on January 18.

In a statement to the inquest, Ms Sokolova said: "It was our first run down the slope. Neither of us saw any danger in what we were doing."

"For some reason we veered off to the left and then collided with a tree. I was stunned and concussed. I saw her (Urszula) lying in the snow in front of me."

An ambulance crew sedated 24-

Urszula Grubb: Died in Austria

year-old Urszula while her flatmate was placed on a stretcher.

Doctors at University Hospital, Vienna, discovered that Urszula had sustained head and brain injuries.

She lay in a coma for five weeks, as her parents stayed by her bedside, but she caught pneumonia and died on February 20.

On Friday, her mother and father, Halina and Richard, and brother Michael, listened as Coroner Rodney Corner recorded a verdict of accidental death.

Urszula was in Austria to study a masters degree in languages.

She could speak English, Polish, German and Latin, she loved ballet and dreamed of working at the Royal Opera House in London.

Her family, who still live in Milton Keynes, have set up a fund-raising appeal in her memory.

So far £1,360 has been raised for The Brain and Spine Foundation, to help maximise the quality of life for people with neurological disorders.

Talent tension mounts

THE tension is mounting at MK Theatre as the city's biggest talent show enters the next round.

The theatre's MK's Top Talent Competition, supported by MK NEWS and Heart radio, is giving the lucky winner the chance to star in the region's premier pantomime Cinderella.

Judges, including West End star Louise Dearman, will be reducing the acts from 92 to the final 40 who will go through to the live heats in September.

You can get involved too and join the hopefuls on Sunday from 10am onwards. It's free and people can come and go as they please.

Holidays will see school transform

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY secondary school is set to close on Friday before it is transformed into an academy.

Sir Frank Markham Community School will reopen in September after a £30 million rebuild.

For 30 years the Leadenhall institution has been named after the late Stony Stratford-born politician.

But when pupils return on September 11, by which time the artists' impressions will have become a reality, it will be called The Milton Keynes Academy.

Sir Frank started as a messenger boy at Wolverton Printing Works before he worked his way up in politics, becoming Winston Churchill's secretary and working at the heart of the wartime government.

Lorna Caldicott, the incoming principal, said the academy will preserve the memory of the MP and his wife, Frances.

She said: "We're very sad that the school is in one sense closing because Sir Frank and his wife were so important to education. But I'm pleased to say that there will be a plaque dedicated to them in the new academy."

"What we're so pleased about is how excited students and staff are. There's a great deal of excitement about the transformation of education in Woughton."

The school is the first in Milton

Keynes to become one of New Labour's academies, which are part funded by private organisations and part funded by government.

It is being sponsored by Edge, the education foundation which has a particular focus on practical and vocational learning.

Current co-headteacher, David James, said the school is celebrating one of its most successful years.

"We have made great strides in the past few years which has been reflected in the students' grades and behaviour."

"The combination of our students and staff and the magnificent facilities at the new academy can only add to our success."

New foundation degrees

The University Centre Milton Keynes (UCMK) has announced the launch of new foundation degrees in journalism and photography.

Adrian Pinckard, head of the Art, Design, Media and Performing Arts Department said: "The courses are very hands-on with work experience, live commissions for real clients as well as our high academic rigour. We have been working closely with local employers including MK NEWS in order to make the courses work-based focused."

Cash for Trash

Your chance to win £100 by recycling

Each week, a computer randomly selects two addresses in Milton Keynes. If the chosen houses are recycling correctly they win £100! If there's no recycling at the property the Recycling Team checks the neighbours until a winner is found.

A full list of rules is available at www.milton-keynes.gov.uk/cashfortrash. Cash for Trash prize money is provided by Community Waste Ltd and Serco who donate Love2shop gift vouchers.

With two £100 prizes up for grabs each week, there's no excuse not to recycle.

Thousands queue to have their treasures explained and valued at Bletchley Park on Sunday

An heirloom wrapped in a mystery inside an enigma

WHEN the quintessentially British programme came to the city on Sunday, the throng responded by doing something equally British: queuing.

And where better for them to bring their own pieces of history than the hub of heritage, Bletchley Park?

With precious heirlooms carefully covered from the intermittent rain, it looked like people were lining up to have their suitcases, boxes and carrier bags valued.

But beneath the bundles of bubble wrap there were a wealth of gems.

Hilary Webb from Bradwell was clutching the postcards her grandfather sent to her grandmother in the First World War.

Samuel Hollis from Wolverton was there with his grandfather's pocket watch, stored safely in his own pocket.

David Elsmere from Bletchley was guarding a bag containing wife Ann's clocks.

"They're worth £125 each," he said. "The wife won't let me sell them though."

Sisters Margaret Pitford and Jo Marell, who had brought four vases, said: "They might not be worth anything, but you never know."

And it was this sense of not knowing which kept people queuing, while presenter Fiona Bruce reassured them that they didn't have long to wait.

The BBC News anchor was particularly excited to be at the home of the code breakers for the 32nd series of the show, which she has fronted for two years.

"I'm thrilled to be here at Bletchley Park," she said. I know quite a lot about it, seen the film, read about it, I'm fascinated by Second World War history.

"Paintings are probably my favourite thing, but I think my favourite area is actually where everyone queues first off, which is what we call reception.

"That's where you get your first look at what people have brought along – look in their bags at things wrapped in newspaper, tied up

Expert Judith Miller tells Jessica Cuniffe her 'ugly little container' is a scent bottle made from a gull's egg

Nearly 3,500 people turned up with their treasures when the Antiques Roadshow came to Bletchley Park this weekend. Reporter JESSICA CUNIFFE spoke to the crowds, the experts, presenter Fiona Bruce – and even got her own treasure valued with bits of string, whatever it is.

"That can be everything and anything, and that's my favourite bit."

Rattling round at the bottom of a carrier bag was my own – in fact, my only – heirloom: a wooden sewing box from the 1830s, given to me by my grandmother's cousin.

Believed to have belonged to my great, great, great grandmother's sister, Penelope Davenport, its compartments have accumulated bobbins, buttons, bits and bobs, representing a mish-mash of different decades.

When I presented it to the expert on the miscellaneous table, Judith Miller, it was not the box which caught her eye but one of its trinkets.

What seemed to me to be an ugly little container was in fact a scent bottle made from a gull's egg, made in Birmingham in around 1890 and worth about £150. The box was worth around £40-60.

She said: "It's a nice little thing. It's such a nice little memory of the family, all things of different ages, all put together."

For Judith, the lure of the show is not just in the artefacts themselves or their price tags, but the insight they provide into our ancestors' lives.

And coming to Bletchley Park she was faced with a mix of miscellany even more diverse than usual.

"The great thing about the Roadshow is that you never know what you're going to see next," she said.

"But with Milton Keynes being Milton Keynes, lots of people have moved here from all over the country, so we are seeing objects from all over the place."

Despite their expertise, however, the collective knowledge of the antiques gurus was not enough to even identify Andrew Hausman's inherited object, let alone value or date it.

After six experts had scrutinised his mysterious mother of pearl shrine, he was told to go home and research its origins himself.

And so, by the end of their visit to Bletchley Park, the BBC had been left stumped by their very own enigma.

Firm fined after chip shop shock

A CATERING equipment firm has been fined £20,000 after electrocuting a chip shop owner

KLS (UK) was fined at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on Friday (July 10) after work carried out at award winning Broughton Fish and Chips in Milton Keynes led to Stephen Wilding being electrocuted on October 6, 2007.

Directors from the company, based in King's Lynn, firm pleaded guilty to two counts under Section 3 of The Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 and Regulation 3 Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1989.

The company received the maximum possible fine of £20,000.

Milton Keynes Council was awarded full costs against the company of £12,118.91.

This case was brought following an extensive investigation by council senior environmental health officer John Rasell.

Mr Wilding was rushed to hospital suffering from cardiac problems and burns but later recovered.

He had authorised repairs to his drainage pump to be carried out under warranty by KLS (UK).

The warranty modifications by a KLS employee to a pump were of such a poor electrical standard that a plug lead and socket were still 'live' when removed from the wall.

Mr Wilding was attached to the electricity supply for 30 seconds before a family member managed to remove the electrical lead from his hands."

Shocked: Stephen Wilding

Asthma boy died after ride at BMX track

THE family of a 10-year-old boy who died after collapsing at a BMX track have paid tribute to their 'happy boy'.

Tobias Daniel Terkelsen, known as Toby, was enjoying a family day out at the BMX track near Tongwell Street, Pineham, on Sunday, July 5, when he collapsed.

As an inquest into his death opened in Milton Keynes on Friday, coroner's officer Sonya Jackson said: "He had been out on his bike, he came back and sat down under a tree. He complained about not feeling well, then he collapsed suddenly."

An off-duty paramedic rushed to help Toby, who suffered from asthma, and an air ambulance was called to the scene.

Toby was taken to Milton Keynes Hospital, where he was treated for a suspected asthma attack but doctors could not revive him.

The youngster was a popular pupil at Great Horwood CofE Combined School, where he captained the Under-11s football team, and was also a member of Great Horwood Scouts.

His parents, Clare and Simon, of Little Horwood Road said: "In his school report he got As in every subject. Everybody loved him and he was just always smiling and happy. There wasn't a bad bone in his body."

There are plans to plant a tree in the village in Toby's memory and a condolence book has been placed in St James Church.

Lee Willoughby, general secretary of MK BMX, cancelled the track's weekly practice night as a mark of respect for Toby.

A full inquest will take place in October.

Code-cracking vets to be given 'gongs'

BY JESSICA CUNNIFFE

jessica.cunniffe@mk-news.co.uk

THE Government is to honour the veterans of Bletchley Park with commemorative badges.

On Thursday, Foreign Secretary David Miliband told Parliament that they have decided to recognise the vital contribution made by members of the Government Code and Cypher School during the Second World War.

Surviving military and civilian veterans who served at Bletchley Park and its outstations during the Second World War are eligible for the badges.

Mr Miliband said: "I am delighted that the vital and secret work of Bletchley Park in the Second World War is being recognised.

The front and rear of the badge to be given to those who served at Bletchley Park during the Second World War

"We owe a debt of gratitude to all who served at Bletchley Park and its outstations. I am proud to acknowledge their ingenuity, skill and determination which helped our country in its time of greatest need."

For the veterans who have died, GCHQ will prepare a bound copy of a register of their names to be held at Bletchley Park.

The badge, designed by Dayna White, has the words

'we also served' engraved on the back.

Those eligible for the badge include anyone employed by the Government Code and Cypher School (GC&CS) at Bletchley Park or its outstations. It is also available to anyone who served in the armed forces there or who served in the 'Y' services collecting material which was sent to Bletchley Park.

Badges will be despatched to veterans in the post in September and there will be a launch ceremony on July 16.

City MP Phyllis Starkey said: "I am delighted the Government has announced this Commemorative Badge. The huge team of people who worked at Bletchley Park all contributed to the code-breaking which was so crucial to the victory of the allies over fascism."

"It was a massive co-operative effort involving hundreds of women and men who transcribed the intercepted messages, cracked the codes, and then processed the deciphered signals."

MP Mark Lancaster added: "I am delighted that the vital contribution made by so many who served at Bletchley Park is finally to be recognised."

£500 of vouchers to be won in photo comp

WONDERFUL woodlands, striking sculptures, beautiful lake landscapes, quirky architecture and vibrant vistas.

Milton Keynes provides inspirational landscapes to a wide variety of residents and visitors.

Now The Parks Trust is offering you the chance to capture the city and its parks on camera for a chance to win £500 in photography vouchers.

The Parks Trust, supported by Milton Keynes Partnership, has launched its 2009 Photography Competition to highlight the beautiful and diverse landscapes, features and people of Milton Keynes.

The competition has four different categories - Wildlife, Landscape, Parklife and a fourth category MK Life to highlight the wider aspects of the city.

The competition is open to both adults and children and an overall winner will be selected from all four categories.

Entries will be judged by a panel of judges, including The Parks Trust, Milton Keynes Partnership and Milton Keynes College.

The overall winner will receive £500 in photography vouchers, an official award certificate and the opportunity to be published in

The Parks Trust's 2010 calendar.

All shortlisted images will be displayed within the competition's photographic exhibition to be held this winter.

Each category winner will receive £50 in vouchers, an award certificate and also the opportunity to be published in the trust's calendar.

David Foster, chief executive of The Parks Trust, said: "Milton Keynes is full of remarkable places and we'd like to encourage people to record their favourite spots or features in a photograph for others to enjoy too."

John Lewis, chief executive of Milton Keynes Partnership added: "Milton Keynes is such a diverse city we want to see what inspires the people living here, what it is that makes the city special for them."

The competition runs until Friday, October 9.

Milton Keynes and North Bucks Chamber of Commerce The Annual Chamber Dinner And Business Excellence Awards 2009

Be a winner in 2009

It is that time of year, the Milton Keynes and North Bucks Chamber reminds you to get your entries into its Annual Business Excellence Awards. The Chamber's Business Excellence Awards recognise the achievements of local businesses and rewards them for their commitment to excellence.

This prestigious competition has attracted high profile sponsorship from major local and national organisations; with each award offering valuable media coverage as well as a specially commissioned sculpture award and valuable publicity for all winners. Shortlisted businesses will also benefit from the valuable publicity and media coverage.

The sculpture, commissioned specifically is symbolic of the MK business community. Represented by the eagle, the sculpture two years ago recognised the coming of age of the MK business community. Last year it reflected businesses flexing their wings for the international stage. The 2009 sculpture will mark the final transformation.

Inspired by our guest speaker Jo Salter, Britain's first female fighter pilot, master of ceremonies Declan Curry and supported by a host of local and national companies, the judging of the competition will be undertaken by a panel of leading business people. Each finalist will be invited to attend a glittering awards ceremony at Stadium MK.

Ticket prices:

£85.00 members, £95.00 non members
Table of 10 £800.00 members, £900.00 non members (all prices are exclusive of VAT)

Applications must be submitted on the correct forms and returned by Friday 31st July

Pupil's award for tackling bullying

BY ROB GIBSON

rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A 15-YEAR-OLD schoolboy has been surprised with a special award for his efforts to tackle bullying.

Charlie Gager was presented with the Princess Diana Anti-Bullying Memorial Award at Radcliffe School, Wolverton, on Thursday.

The award recognises the outstanding contributions that young people make to help eradicate bullying in their schools and communities.

Charlie has been leading the anti-bullying initiative at the school, co-ordinating 60 student ambassadors who organise compliance days, smile days, assemblies, break time duties and workshops.

After picking up the award Charlie said: "I was quite overwhelmed but I am honoured to have won it."

"Everyone in the school knew but they kept it a surprise. I enjoy working with the team and just seeing other people having fun. I don't think anyone should feel threatened or insecure so most of our work is promoting positive behaviour."

He has also presented workshops at Warwick University, visited schools as far as Leicester and attended important meetings with staff.

Radcliffe headteacher, John O'Donnell said: "Charlie has been a super role model. He is really helping to resolve people's issues and we are very proud of him."

While Charlie took centre stage, year six primary school students were enjoying a fun-filled 'transition day', before they move to the school next term.

The anti-bullying team organised an adventure treasure hunt, sixth-former workshop, sports event and penalty shoot-out.

When neighbours become good friends

NEIGHBOURS across the city will be getting to know each other over sandwiches or burgers.

The Big Lunch street parties are to be held across the city this Sunday (July 19).

The idea was started by staff at The Eden Project in Cornwall, who are asking people across the country to stop what they are doing and sit down to lunch together to help build community spirit.

Residents in Newark Court in Caldecotte will be bringing their own lunch for a street party at 1pm, with face painting and music.

In Hartfield Close, Kents Hill, Riverford Organic Veg delivery company will hold an organic barbecue for its neighbours at 3pm.

Broughton Fire Station will be joining in as part of its charity open day, with home made cakes – some baked by the firefighters – and a barbecue plus soak a firefighter, pony rides, funfair rides and fire safety demonstrations.

And in Thirby Lane, Shenley Church End neighbours are organising a barbecue with live music, a magician, activities such as big jenga and a chocolate fountain.

This event will raise money for the children's ward at Milton Keynes Hospital. Tickets cost £10 for adults and £5 for children including food and a drink.

Organiser Jatinder Benepal said: "We are hoping to have up to 200 people coming along."

Mayor Euan Henderson with the horse-riding youngsters at Loughton Manor Equestrian Centre

Horse riding charity a help for troubled kids

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

TROUBLED young people are being taught to overcome their obstacles by a new horse riding charity.

Ride High, supported by the BBC's Jeremy Vine, has been set up to help Milton Keynes youngsters develop social, personal and academic skills by teaching them to ride and care for horses.

The young people who take part are referred to the charity by a social worker, youth worker, school or doctor.

Charity founder Rachel Medill, who is director of the British Equestrian Federation said: "Those children may well be in social services care, they may be caring for a parent so they can't be at full-time school, they may be bullied very badly at school and have very low self esteem, they could have been in trouble with police, they may be living in an environment dominated by poverty, alcohol or drugs.

"We are trying to help them develop skills that will help them for the rest of their lives."

A pilot project has been run at Loughton Manor Equestrian Centre since April with six young people taking part.

In a launch event on Thursday they demonstrated what they have learned to a group of local business people and supporters and were presented with certificates by the mayor of Milton Keynes Cllr Euan Henderson.

The mayor also opened the new club house, where the youngsters learn through group exercises such as memory, trust and writing games.

Mrs Medill added: "I've ridden all my life so I have seen first hand the pleasure and joy that horses can bring. It is a special experience that most people only dream of, so for those children who are lacking in self esteem or are unhappy it is truly a special thing to do."

"It really means a lot to them, we have seen huge improvements in behaviour in the time they have been with us. They are acting as a team together, they are enjoying each other's company, they are making bonds with the horses and altogether it's just been a thoroughly positive experience."

The charity hopes to expand to provide sustained support to 50 children by this time next year. It will then cost around £70,000 a year to run.

In a recorded message to supporters at the charity's launch Jeremy Vine, BBC Radio Two and Panorama presenter and patron of Ride High, said: "To enable children without necessarily the stable, loving and nurturing background that so many of us took for granted to come and do something that is completely unusual for them and to see a different vista and a different horizon is so exciting."

Mrs Medill is calling for people or businesses who can offer financial help or volunteers who can give their time to get in touch.

Firm fined after lorry crushes driver

A LOGISTICS company has been fined £133,000 after a man was crushed to death by a faulty lorry.

David West, 59, died at the Concorde Logistics warehouse in Bradville, Milton Keynes, in November 2006.

Aylesbury Crown Court heard on Monday how the driver of the lorry had climbed out of the cab when it suddenly stopped moving due to a fault. The brakes locked temporarily and then released after the driver left the cab to report the problem.

Mr West was waiting to collect a parcel and was killed when the unoccupied lorry rolled onto him.

Unitrans Ltd, trading as Concorde Logistics Ltd, was fined a total of £133,000 and ordered to pay £19,686.09p in costs.

The company previously admitted two health and safety offences of failing to fulfil its duty to ensure the health, safety and welfare of its employees and visitors to the site in Mercers Drive.

The court heard the company has made major improvements to health and safety at the premises following a detailed investigation. They include introducing dedicated pedestrian walkways and clearly marked out 'no go' areas for vehicles, as well as tighter controls over vehicle movements in the rear yard.

Judge Christopher Tyrer, sentencing, said the accident was 'a needless loss of life', one that was 'entirely preventable' and that any fine should be expected to 'hurt' and concentrate the minds of those with legal obligations.

Olympic legend Daley on his bike for sport charity

OLYMPIC legend Daley Thompson cycled in to Milton Keynes to encourage more youngsters to turn to sport instead of crime.

The decathlon double-gold winner was taking part in a cycle challenge from Manchester to London, and stopped off in MK to visit Mercedes-Benz, one of the sponsors, to promote the charity Laureus Sport for Good Foundation.

Laureus commissioned a report which shows how sport can be used as a tool to tackle gang and youth crime and social issues for young people.

Thompson is one of the Laureus ambassadors and presented the report to Downing Street.

After reaching MK with former Argentinian rugby player Hugo Porter, Thompson spoke to staff at Mercedes-Benz explaining why their support is important to the cause.

Speaking to MK NEWS Daley said: "It's nice to come down and show that we actually appreciate what they're doing for us, and it's nice for their staff to see what the company's involved in."

"Laureus Sport For Good foundation feel that sport can help alleviate some social problems. We've been looking at knife, gun and gang crime. We just think there's a place to use sport and get kids off the streets.

"We've been going up and down the country and all over the place on this bike ride and visiting loads of projects and seeing kids involved and happy."

"Being in a gang is like being in a sports team you've got the camaraderie protection, but the other thing that sport gives you is it teaches you sportsmanship, leadership, and good qualities that you don't get when you're in a gang."

Thompson's bid to get people out of crime and in to sport has been backed by Richard Taylor, the father of murdered teenager Damilola Taylor.

Women walk at midnight

A MOOVING midnight walk is to raise money for a city hospice this weekend.

One thousand women are set to take part in the Midnight Moo, which is being organised in aid of Willen Hospice on Saturday (July 18).

The ten-mile sponsored walk will take in the centre of MK, Campbell Park, Willen and The City Discovery Centre, finishing up back at Midsummer Place.

The route will be well lit and marshalled.

City celebs open fitness club

THE 80th Energie Fitness club in the UK opened in Milton Keynes last week.

Following a £150,000 refurbishment, the Theatre District venue was opened with the help of the deputy mayor of Milton Keynes, Cllr Debbie Brock, last Friday.

MK Dons chairman Pete Winkelman and MK Lions coach Vince McCauley also joined Energie Fitness chief executive Jan Spaticchia.

General manager Gary Corby said: "We have worked long and hard to change the look and feel of the club and now we are ready to reveal all to Milton Keynes."

Attack witnesses sought

A MAN was attacked by a group of men in Fenny Stratford.

Police are appealing for witnesses after the 25-year-old victim was set upon by a group of men near to the BP petrol station on Aylesbury Road at around 2.50am on Saturday, July 4.

The victim believes he was initially assaulted by four men and two others joined in.

PC Martin Camp, investigating, said: "Luckily the victim was not seriously injured in this incident, but he has been left shaken. Although it was the early hours of the morning, it was the weekend, so I am hopeful there were people around who may have witnessed the assault."

One of the offenders is white, in his early 20s, around 6ft 2ins, medium build and has short, blond hair. He was wearing a blue T-shirt. No description is available of the other offenders.

Anyone who witnessed the assault can call PC Camp on 0845 8 505 505 or Crime-stoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Dragon boaters raise £2,000

FROSTS Garden Centre staff swapped their spades for oars when they competed in the Green Fingers Dragon Boat Race at Wickstead Park.

The Woburn Sands-based centre took part with 10 other garden centres and finished in a respectable fifth place.

The other garden centres were from all over the UK and we were racing for the same charity - The Green Fingers Appeal - which creates and sets up gardens in hospitals and hospices all over the UK.

Frosts raised just over £2,000.

Computer history is put on the shelf

THE country's most valuable source of computing history has opened its doors to researchers for the first time.

The National Museum of Computing, at Bletchley Park, announced this week that its archives will be made fully accessible for study.

The collection began only two years ago and has just been re-housed in accessible shelving, following a donation by Compact Storage Ltd, and a dedicated office has been built for researchers.

The improvements will give researchers access to computer software, documentation, disks, cassettes, DVDs, films and videos that have marked the progress of computing over the past decades.

Among the artefacts likely to excite technology buffs is the complete ICL manufacturing archive on almost four million 35mm aperture cards and the digital microfiche collection of over 10,000 films.

Kevin Murrell, a director and trustee at the museum, said: "The new shelving has almost tripled the capacity of our archiving space and, more importantly, made its contents accessible. It must be one of the biggest computer history collections that is accessible to researchers on request."

■ To request access to the archive researchers can email info@nmoc.org

Conniburrow school's double

A CITY school has proved itself to be a double champion supporting the elderly.

Southwood School in Conniburrow raised almost £122 through a series of events including ice lolly making, a 'fry-up Friday' and Easter egg hunts.

The fund-raising was part of a business challenge competition run by ExtraCare Charitable Trust's Lovat Fields Village based in Willen.

Schools which took part were given £50 with a challenge of increasing the money to see who makes the most.

MK NEWS sponsors the challenge which saw Southwood win the trophy for the second year.

TASTELIFE

Don't make a pig's ear of pork belly

THIS lovely weather makes the temperature of our kitchen, sometimes, unbearable.

I arrived at The Crooked Billet on a hot sunny morning to find the temperature of my kitchen was 98 degrees. Even with all our modern extraction I did not expect that it would be so warm.

I should have known as I had been cooking pork belly overnight in our oven.

My dish of Crispy Pork Belly is, undoubtedly, the most requested dish that I have ever cooked. It has been on our menu in various guises since 2002. I am always asked for the recipe and now it's time to let the secret out of how we get the crackling so crispy.

Firstly, it is important to get the right meat. We only use free range pork from a local farm and I would suggest that you buy pork from a local Butcher that knows the history of the pork.

This dish will not have the same results if you buy a piece of meat that has been pumped full of water to increase its weight. It is also a great dish that you can prepare in advance as leaving the dish to cool and then reheat will make the crackling even crispier. Secondly the pork belly must have a high fat content. It is the fat that gives the meat the great flavour and keeps it moist. Cooking the meat overnight releases the water content and concentrates the flavour of the meat. Lastly I believe you have to serve apple with this dish. Apple sauce is great but even better is roasted apple as the acidity of a fresh apple goes well with a juicy piece of pork.

Emma Gilchrist

CRISPY PORK BELLY

Serves six people

Ingredients

1.8 kg/4lb belly pork, skin on
The zest of 2 lemons and the sliced lemon
2 cloves of garlic, finely chopped
6 sprigs fresh thyme
Salt and pepper

Method

1. Pre-heat the oven to 200C/400F/Gas 6. rub the meat side of the pork belly with the garlic, lemon zest and salt and pepper and leave in the fridge for one hour.
2. Place the lemon slices and thyme sprigs on a wire rack that fits over an empty roasting tray. On top of this place the pork belly skin side up.
3. Place in the oven and half fill the roasting tray with boiling water.
4. Roast for one hour and then reduce the oven temperature to 160C/350F/Gas 3 for 4 hours.
5. Remove the pork from the wire rack and allow to rest for 15 minutes in a warm place.

FOR THE ROAST APPLE

Ingredients

3 Apples
2 teaspoons of butter
Vegetable oil
Salt and pepper

Method

- 1 Slice the apples in half and core and season the flesh side.
- 2 In the oven 200c gas 6 Heat a little oil and the butter in a roasting tray.
- 3 Place the halved apples skin side down on the tray and cook for 5 minutes.
- 4 Turn the apples over and cook skin side up for a further 5 minutes.

BLETCHLEY PARK

BLETCHLEY Park's ninth annual Polish Day takes place on Sunday.

The day celebrates the important contribution made by the Poles to the breaking of the Enigma Polish cipher.

Bletchley Park remembers the three mathematicians who are commemorated on its Polish Memorial Marian Rejewski, Henryk Zygalski and Jerzy Rucinski.

This year is the 70th anniversary of their contribution.

Guided tours will be available in both Polish and English languages and there will be three lectures: Eugenia Maresch on the handover by the Poles to the British of their Enigma research; Frank Carter on 'Enigma'; the Polish Contribution; and Derek Celinski, a Polish Second World War veteran, will give a unique insight into life in Warsaw during the German occupation.

Other Polish-themed activities throughout the day will be the showing of Polish films in the 1940s Enigma cinema, traditional folk dancers and a Polish mass.

A full Polish menu will also be available in the restaurant.

The Crooked Billet

The Crooked Billet has the look and feel of a traditional country pub, which indeed it used to be. However, current owners John & Emma Gilchrist took the once failing pub, realised their dream, and have turned it into what it is today - a nationally recognised Gastro Pub.

It is a place where the staff are knowledgeable, enthusiastic and proud, offering a relaxed atmosphere and an environment that is clean and friendly. The food is sourced from the finest, freshest ingredients from a multitude of small specialist food producers and suppliers, locally when possible, organic when we can, and cooked simply, with the emphasis on taste but with modern presentation in mind.

BEACHLIFE

Get sand in your shoes

BEACHES appear to be like buses in MK – you wait around for one to appear and then two arrive at once.

Xscape are hosting their fourth annual beach for family fun this summer and are also sponsoring thecentre:mk's Seaside Wonderland beach in Middleton Hall from July 22 to September 2.

"Despite being two hours from the coast, Milton Keynes really will be the ultimate beach destination this summer," said Jackie Tracey, events manager for thecentre:mk.

"Combining the facilities of thecentre:mk and Xscape, visitors will be able to enjoy a day at the seaside, some serious retail therapy, a quick skydive finishing with an evening's snowboarding. There aren't many leisure destinations which can offer this variety within a five-minute walk."

thecentre:mk will celebrate its 30th birthday in great British seaside style, 100 tons of sand will be shipped into Middleton Hall to create the largest indoor beach in the UK.

There will also be a 60ft galleon with interactive 'Captain Jack' 3-D show, a lighthouse helter-skelter, a carousel, 30ft high coconut trees and sandcastles.

Xscape will also be hosting a beach from July 27 complete with a plane to get you there and on-board entertainment!

The three-week long holiday will also feature special one-off beach parties hosted by Heart FM, including cocktail flaring demonstrations and live performances from the stars of Britain's Got Talent.

Xscape's creative director, Robert Warner said: "It is fantastic that we have been able to work closely with thecentre:mk this summer – as the two leading destinations in the region, we'll make Milton Keynes the place to be."

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM

Open-Air Theatre, Campbell Park

Friday, July 24

ENTER an enchanted forest full of magic, humour, music and romance and join The Parks Trust for one of Shakespeare's best loved comedies – A Midsummer Night's Dream. Will the mis-matched lovers find their way through the wood, will the King and Queen of the fairies resolve their differences and will love conquer all?

Enjoy this magical open-air performance of Shakespeare's funny and romantic classic on Friday, July 24 in Campbell Park.

Performed by the Illyria Theatre Company this is a tale of flitting fairies, forest-bound lovers and raucous tradesmen all joining together to provide a perfect summer's evening of entertainment.

Bring a picnic, seat and blanket and then enjoy the show set against the stunning backdrop of Campbell Park.

The performance will go on whatever the weather so be prepared for rain or shine.

The event takes place at Campbell Park Pavilion and costs £7 per adult, £5 per child or £20 per family of four. Tickets must be bought in advance.

To book your tickets call The Parks Trust's on 01908 233600 or visit www.theparkstrust.com

Parking is available free at Campbell Park Pavilion and at Avebury Boulevard.

Black Swans headline Parklife fest

PARKLIFE MUSIC AND ARTS FESTIVAL

Ousebank Gardens, High Street, Newport Pagnell

Saturday, July 18

HOT from their performance at Glastonbury Festival, The Black Swan Effect are to headline an event in Newport Pagnell.

A 2,000-plus crowd is expected for the eighth Parklife Music and Arts Festival, which will be held at Ousebank Gardens in High Street, Newport Pagnell on Saturday, July 18 with over 22 acts on two stages.

The Black Swan Effect, centred by former Reef star Dominic Greensmith and his songwriting partner Gareth Hale, will headline the Main Stage, while Amy Wadge, winner of the Welsh Music Award for Best Female Solo Artist for two years running, is confirmed to close the acoustic stage.

The line-up also includes local performers including indie band Equinox, rock and rollers AKA, five-piece pop/rock band Isabelle and local band The Break.

Plus singer-songwriter Scott Dean Project, alternative rock band Hard Finger and punky London four-piece Mad Staring Eyes.

There will also be an arts marquee showcasing the work of local artists, painters and photographers, a children's play area and a tea tent.

The free event will run from 12pm until 9pm. For more information visit www.parklifefest.co.uk

It is followed the next day by Cuttin Wax Festival at the same place and same stage, dominated by vinyl-orientated music.

Milton Keynes NHS
Primary Care Trust

People's Award Dignity in Care

Sheila Begley

Milton Keynes Community Health Services is committed to making sure you receive care that values and respects your dignity and privacy.

Dignity in care is central to the values and philosophy of nursing.

Nurses have a duty to protect the dignity of people when they are at their most vulnerable. Increasing pressure on nurses' time means that they have to be even more aware than ever to identify the issues that may impact on providing a patient with dignified care.

Mixed sex accommodation for patients is a good example of compromised dignity in care; the use of commodes in an open ward or insufficient time available to assist someone to eat a meal. Nurses need to ask themselves if the patient's experience is dignified and whether it is the quality of care that they or a loved one would like to receive.

Dignified care takes time; time to talk to people to ask how they would like their care to be provided and time to support people to do things according to their own abilities. Dignified care means that people feel in control, valued and confident and able to recover quicker.

We believe that being treated with dignity is a right for all patients, not an optional extra. It's not enough that services are efficient: patients must all be treated with the compassion and respect they deserve.

Dignity in care means protecting your right to privacy.

Dignity in care means zero tolerance of all forms of abuse – of patients and staff.

Dignity in care means helping people enjoy the maximum amount of independence, choice and control over their care and lives.

Dignity in care means ensuring people feel they are able to complain without worrying that the level of their care will be affected.

Dignity in care means having the right to be treated. You will not be refused treatment on the grounds of race, religion or belief, gender, disability or sexual orientation.

We'd like you to help us recognise and reward our staff, by nominating a healthcare worker who has helped you. The person you nominate could be a healthcare worker or an administrator someone who has really gone that extra mile for you in providing your care, dealing with your case, answering your questions or just always being there with a friendly smile.

We held some staff awards last year – staff nominated their colleagues to recognise their hard work. We'd like to share their work here with you – I hope you feel as proud of them and of the work they do for the people of Milton Keynes as we are. Please turn to the nomination on the back page of this insert to make your nomination – we are looking forward to reading it.

Sheila Begley,
Deputy Director of Nursing

Rapid Assessment and Intervention Team

The team works incredibly hard to provide rehabilitation support to people in their own homes who have had an illness, accident or operation. They have worked with the ambulance service, taken referrals from GPs, district nurses, community matrons and social workers to prevent people having to go into hospital.

They are a dedicated team who never refuse to take a patient because the service is 'full' or 'too busy'. They respond within two hours to an emergency referral and will provide equipment and care support the same day for someone. The service is hectic but the team remain cheerful, happy and supportive of patients and each other. The team members stay late after work to ensure people are supported, they are often called out at the weekend when off duty to give advice or sometimes come in to help a colleague.

They have gone out at the weekend in their own time to do shopping for a lonely patient. Due to the range of referrals, nurses have found themselves in unusual situations, which has involved using skills beyond the usual nursing remit. Nurses are well known for being innovative in helping patients to be independent in their homes. This has involved moving furniture to make the home safe to move around, ensuring good nutrition, access to food and drink and helping to resolve any issues which affect the provision of care; such as making arrangement for pets!

The team really encompass all that is good and worth celebrating about the health service.

RAIT Team

Liz Caves, Medical Secretary for the Specialist Child and Adolescent Mental Health Services

As secretary to four NHS psychiatrists and one NHS psychotherapist, Liz is not only called on to provide excellent administrative, managerial and secretarial skills but she is also on the front line when it comes to dealing with severely ill patients and highly sensitive matters concerning patients, their families and carers.

Liz has a subtle blend of calm, competent, executive decision-making. Additionally, Liz has the capacity to think ahead, making it possible for the clinicians to run their clinics smoothly in a stressful and demanding environment.

This ability to foresee glitches and act to avert them is an invaluable quality that Liz has in spades! When the going gets tough, Liz rises to the occasion, somehow managing to find the time to make cups of tea for colleagues and worried families, until the crisis has been resolved. Patients, their families and colleagues speak of their admiration and gratitude for Liz's receptive and caring approach.

Liz is known by all those she comes into contact with as an individual in whom one can always place confidence and trust. She has warmth, wit, humour and a tireless ability to remain positive and focused, while maintaining an unrivalled standard as a medical secretary and ambassador for the NHS.

Liz deals sensitively with patients, their families and their carers. Everyone who comes in to contact with her feels that they can place confidence and trust in her and patients and colleagues alike speak of her with admiration.

Emma Pullan, Community Nurse in Learning Disabilities

Emma has developed a 'long arm' mentoring system with University College Northampton which has led to increased placements for Learning Disabilities student nurses and has given them a wider experience of working with people with a learning disability. This provides our service users with more experienced staff who are better able to meet their needs.

Teresa Wood, Community Paediatric Matron for children with complex needs

Teresa is totally committed to providing high quality patient care. She helps care for children with complex medical needs, many of whom have life-limiting conditions. She is compassionate and supportive with families and is readily available to them during times of crisis.

She offers excellent support to the children's families, training and empowering them to manage their child's needs effectively. She is readily available to the families at times of need and crisis. Teresa has been known to stay with the parents by the bedside of a dying child late in to the night and be available the next morning to another family with whom she had an appointment.

Her skills, knowledge and commitment to the care of the children are highly valued by both parents and professionals alike.

Mike Chew, Managing Director Provider Services with Teresa Wood

Ros Hart, Senior Physiotherapist

Ros works in the Neuro-Rehabilitation Unit, providing expert physiotherapy and much-needed support to her patients. She treats her patients with respect, dignity and good humour. She goes out of her way to ensure that patients receive individual, personalised care to build good relationships with them, making sure they achieve their goals.

Suzanne Billson

Suzanne is the Unit Manager for Windsor Intermediate Care Unit, which provides time a time limited programme of nursing and therapy for men and women (over the age of 18) who need support to enable them to regain and improve their functioning, independence and confidence to return safely to their own home – the unit helps avoid people being admitted to hospital.

Suzanne Billson

The unit ensures that people are treated with respect and dignity. Suzanne has introduced self administration of medication to ensure people return home more able to understand and manage their own medication. This required time, determination and dedication.

She has been keen to adopt any initiative that will improve services and outcomes for her patients.

Suzanne is dedicated to the unit and frequently comes in on her days off if a staff member is off sick to ensure the unit is fully staffed. She is a supportive leader for her staff. Suzanne involves everyone, even getting her father to act as Father Christmas and ensuring every patient received a gift on Christmas Day. For Suzanne, the patients, their care and their experience is a way of life, not just a day job. Her genuine caring and encouraging supportive approach distinguishes both her and the unit she runs.

The team really encompass all that is good and worth celebrating about the health service

NHS Constitution

The NHS Constitution was launched in January 2009. It details what patients, public and staff can expect from the NHS.

Patients have a number of rights and pledges under the Constitution:

Your rights include:

The right to access NHS treatment. You will not be refused treatment on the grounds of race, religion or belief, gender, disability or sexual orientation.

The right to a professional standard of care by appropriately qualified and experienced staff, in a properly approved or registered organisation that meets required levels of safety and quality.

The right to be treated with dignity and respect, in accordance with your human rights.

The right to accept or refuse treatment that is offered to you, and not to be given any physical examination or treatment unless you have given valid consent.

The right to be given information about your proposed treatment in advance, including any significant risks and any alternative treatments which may be available, and the risks involved in doing nothing.

The right to privacy and confidentiality and to expect the NHS to keep your confidential information safe and secure.

You have the right of access to your own health records. These will always be used to manage your treatment in your best interests."

You have the right to have any complaint you make about NHS services dealt with efficiently and to have it properly investigated. You also have the right to find out the outcome of this complaint.

The Constitution also details patients' responsibilities:

You should recognise that you can make a significant contribution to your own, and your family's, good health and well-being, and take some personal responsibility for it.

You should register with a GP practice – the main point of access to NHS care

You should treat NHS staff and other patients with respect and recognise that causing a nuisance or disturbance on NHS premises could result in prosecution."

You should keep appointments, or cancel within reasonable time. Receiving treatment within the maximum waiting times may be compromised unless you do.

You should follow the course of treatment which you have agreed, and talk to your clinician if you find this difficult.

You should participate in important public health programmes such as vaccination.

You should give feedback – both positive and negative – about the treatment and care you have received, including any adverse reactions you may have had.

If you need help or advice, or have concerns about NHS services, contact the Patient Liaison and Advisory Service (PALS) on 01908 243633 or email pals@mkpct.nhs.uk

Windsor Intermediate Care Unit

The unit is based in the ground floor of Dovecote Manor, Whalley Drive, Bletchley. It provides a time - limited programme of nursing and therapy for men and women (over the age of 18) who need a period of rehabilitation to enable them to regain and improve their functioning, independence and confidence to return safely to their own home.

Each patient has their own comfortable en-suite bedroom. Patients take meals in the comfortable dining room. The unit has a well equipped rehabilitation room with a range of equipment to help patients achieve their optimum independence.

Patients are also expected to take part in rehabilitation activities, such as arts and crafts and discussion groups. They may also relax in the garden.

There is a criteria for admission, which is made via a GP or other clinician:

- People who no longer require acute care
- Hospital admission avoidance.
- There are clear goals and purpose for admission and the patient is aware of these, and in agreement.
- Admissions are time limited, usually up to three weeks, but no longer than six weeks
- Patients are willing and able to take part in a therapy programme
- Patients have agreed to be admitted and their relations/friends are aware
- There is a stated discharge destination, usually the patient's home address.

The Older People's Assessment Service is thriving in brand-new purpose-built accommodation in Bletchley. It used to be known as Ward 14, based at the hospital until its move last year.

The team provides a short-term in patient assessment facility for older people with mental health problems. Previously, the team were based in Ward 14 at the hospital. Ward 14 was not fit for purpose and did not meet the single-sex criteria. The atmosphere was chaotic and not conducive to therapy and recovery.

The new facility boasts light, spacious individual rooms, which are painted in neutral, calming colours. Each room has its own bathroom. Service users are able to lock the door to their room for greater privacy, but the staff are able to access the room in the event of an emergency. The private rooms enable one to one therapies to be carried out in an efficient way.

The service is on the ground floor, ensuring access to everyone. Best of all, the new premises allows access to the garden, which brings staff and clients together in a more social way. The garden offers great scope for a variety of different therapies. Service users will also be able to get hands on with gardening and growing seeds.

These facilities will be of great benefit to the service users, help them be secure and comfortable and aid their treatment. The new unit really helps put the patient at the centre of their own care.

The unit's staff showed very positive attitudes to the move, with many of them working additional hours to ensure that they remained fully operational during the transitional process and that no patient was put at risk. The staff were empowered, helping to choose the new name and being proactive with actions for the move. The new unit is a morale boost for the staff, with the improved environment and clear gains in the care of their patients.

Miss Little is going large with monster smoothies

New enterprise in line to support mentoring scheme for troubled kids

BY LAURA HANNAM

laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A WOMAN who runs a project to help troubled young people has opened a juice bar in the city centre.

Chrissy Little, from Oxley Park, has opened The Juice Monster Cafe in the Xscape building.

The bar offers fresh fruit monster-themed smoothies, such as Berry Beast, Tropical Fright and Strawberry Phantom, alongside milkshakes, yoghurt shakes and a selection of sandwiches, wraps and other snacks.

A tiny Mega Van also delivers all of the above plus coffees to offices in the city centre.

Customers can text 07762480265 to have their goodies delivered Monday to Friday between 9am and 3pm.

Miss Little, who has previously worked at young offenders institutions in Milton Keynes and Bedford, also runs The Young Minds Project.

The scheme, based in Milton Keynes, pairs young people leaving care or young offenders with mentors that can support them to build their lives and avoid getting involved in crime or drugs.

The juice bar is currently a separate enterprise, but Miss Little hopes it may support The Young Minds Project in the future.

She said: "We are hoping the fun brand will attract everyone, including young people, families and office workers.

"It has had a really good reception, people can't believe it is just me and not a big chain."

"We will be running lots of promotions during the summer, including buy one get one free."

Academy gets new governor

PHILIP Smith, a key business figure in the development of Milton Keynes, has joined the board of governors at the new £27m Milton Keynes Academy.

Mr Smith has taken up the position of business governor at the school, which is due to open in September.

"I am very excited and enthusiastic about my new role," said Mr Smith, who is chairman of the MK Business Leaders Partnership and pro chancellor of De Montfort University Leicester.

"I'm extremely impressed by the school's commitment to have such a direct involvement with business and I'm really looking forward to playing an important role in the evolution of this fantastic new academy. My background in education and business will enable me to provide a lot of guidance in the delivery of those goals."

The Milton Keynes Academy has a specialism of business and enterprise with plans to teach students work-related skills in every lesson. Mr Smith feels this is a crucial move in the future success of the education system.

"When I was at school I didn't learn anything about business. Companies are finding that students are coming to them ill-prepared. Now, more than ever, students need to learn about business principles and how business works so they get a feel for employment and what it means. I'm delighted the academy will have business and commercial issues as an intrinsic part of its structure. I will be supporting their drive and enthusiasm to get this delivered in a purposeful, organised and constructive way."

Peter Mitchell is chairman of governors at the Milton Keynes Academy and education director of independent education foundation Edge which is sponsoring the Academy. He said: "We are thrilled that Philip Smith is joining the Board of Governors. He is extremely committed to enterprise in the education system and I have no doubt that Philip will help to ensure the academy keeps enterprise at the heart of the school."

Jobs at Milton Keynes College, Whatever your Direction

Independent Chair - Milton Keynes Safeguarding Children Board

£600 per day (depending on experience), up to 25 days per year, initial period of 2 years (subject to review)

Ensuring the safety of children and young people in Milton Keynes is of crucial importance to us all and you will have a pivotal part to play. We have just reviewed our safeguarding children board and developed a new constitution and new job description for the chair.

You will provide direction for the Milton Keynes Safeguarding Children Board and ensure it fulfils its statutory objectives of monitoring, promoting and scrutinising safeguarding across all partners in Children's Services.

You will foster a collaborative approach with key agencies, challenging where appropriate, and you will contribute to regional and local development.

With extensive experience of working within the public or voluntary sector at a strategic level, you will have first hand knowledge and experience of the safeguarding arena. You will also be effective in chairing complex professional meetings with excellent leadership, negotiating and influencing skills.

It is anticipated that the role will require up to 25 days per year which will be paid on a daily consultancy basis of up to £600 per day depending upon experience. The arrangement will be for an initial period of two years, subject to review. Candidates must be independent of all organisations represented on the Board.

For additional information please contact Lesley Mellor on 01908 254373.

To apply, please send your CV and 2 referees to Lesley Mellor at lesley.mellor@milton-keynes.gov.uk

Closing date: 31 July 2009.

Interview date: To be agreed.

All applicants will be interviewed in line with our safer recruitment policy and the successful candidate will be subject to an enhanced CRB check.

At Milton Keynes, we're supporting the growth of our vibrant city while continuing to deliver excellent services. It's an exciting place to be and we're keen to get the balance right - including the work-life balance. So if you're looking for family friendly benefits and the chance to make a difference, make a move to MKC.

Providing an emergency service 24 hours 365 days a year, Bedfordshire and Luton serves a population of 576,800.

We are now recruiting for the following enthusiastic team member:

BEDFORDSHIRE & LUTON FIRE & RESCUE SERVICE
Based at Service Hq, Southfields Road, Kempston

IT TECHNICAL OFFICER

Salary: £26,784 to £30,546 per annum
Plus 7.5% Callout Allowance
Hours: 37 per week

Bedfordshire & Luton Fire & Rescue Service Information and Communications department is committed to delivering transformational IT across the organisation. The value of ICT is recognised throughout the Service and is an integral part of service delivery. A dynamic, customer focused IT specialist is required to play an essential part in delivering these services.

You will be an IT professional, and hold a MCSE or equivalent qualification or have proven experience. You will have strong experience of working in an ICT environment. You will provide technical support and advice to 600 users on a network connected to 15 locations in Bedfordshire, delivering an Oracle Management Information System, Microsoft Office automation, SharePoint, Exchange Email alongside many other supporting back office systems. You will undertake the administration, maintenance and security of the ICT systems to approved standards, and evaluate new technologies and methods. You will install, configure and diagnose server operating systems, databases and software applications.

You will have excellent working knowledge of Microsoft SharePoint, IIS and SQL. A good knowledge of Windows Active Directory, data networks and Microsoft operating systems and an understanding of the legislative requirements of software licensing is essential. You will be able to analyse problems, implement solutions and work to deadlines while managing a number of tasks simultaneously.

You will be available when required for 24/7 call out, to carry out essential repairs on a rotational basis. This will be on a one week in four basis.

An application form, job description and personnel specification, together with other relevant details may be obtained from the Personnel Section on 01234 845025.

Completed application forms must be returned no later than Friday 24th July 2009.

There is a requirement for the postholder to wear corporate clothing.

Bedfordshire & Luton Fire & Rescue Service particularly welcomes applications from women, people from ethnic minorities and disabled people (Ss 48 & 38 of the Sex Discrimination and Race Relations Acts apply) who are under-represented in this area of work.

BEDFORDSHIRE & LUTON FIRE & RESCUE SERVICE
Based at Service headquarters, Kempston

BUSINESS INFORMATION MANAGER

Salary: £39,460 to £46,204 per annum
Hours: 37 per week (Flexitime)

As Business Information Manager, you would be required to work with business unit managers to map and monitor business outputs and, where necessary, re-engineer business process in order to provide enhanced customer focus and continuous service improvement. You will direct the acquisition and manage the development and implementation of customer insight tools, performance and data management systems and processes across the Service to ensure accurate and timely analysis and reporting.

You will produce the Service Data Schema and co-ordinate the development of the Schema with other regional and national schemas and ensure continued audit. You will provide support and advice across the Service to all users of business systems to ensure that the potential benefits of the systems are fully realised.

You must be educated to degree level or hold an equivalent qualification. You will need experience of working in a performance management, risk management or business planning environment and have experience in a management or supervisory role.

An understanding of socio-demographic datasets and their application in a service planning environment is essential, as are excellent ICT skills, specifically MS Office software and reporting tools. You must also have excellent analytical skills and a proven ability to collect and report on data using relevant and appropriate statistical analysis techniques.

AUDIT AND PERFORMANCE MANAGER

Salary: £30,546 to £34,207 per annum
Hours: 37 per week (Flexitime)

As Audit and Performance Manager, you would be required to manage the Service internal audit programme ensuring the outcomes from such programmes provide continuous learning and service improvement. You would also develop policies and procedures to enable the collection and reporting of evidence in relation to external audit and to ensure the outcomes of such audits are incorporated within service improvement processes.

You would be required to implement service performance management systems that enable managers to effectively manage the service and report our performance to our stakeholders and customers as required. You would take an active part in developing the role of the Strategic Staff Team as a member of the management team of this department; you would also manage the Service Performance Officer.

Significant experience in Audit and Quality Assurance is essential, as is experience in developing, implementing and maintaining Performance Management systems.

You must have experience in the analysis of data to produce information reports that assist in organisational decision making and planning; and experience in the use of Microsoft Office applications to a high standard.

SERVICE IMPROVEMENT MANAGER

Salary: £30,546 to £34,207 per annum
Hours: 37 per week (Flexitime)

As Service Improvement Manager, you will provide professional support and guidance to the Senior Management Team of the Service to continuously improve the service planning processes in order to proactively achieve significant and sustainable improvements. In so doing, ensure that all relevant policies, procedures and plans are produced in line with legal and/or organisational requirements.

In seeking to achieve a change in service improvement you would be responsible for the service programme and project management policies and procedures. You would also be responsible for the service consultation strategy and for marketing and communications with our stakeholders to gain intelligence and information with the aim of improving internal business processes and service delivery performance.

Experience in project management is essential as is experience in developing strategic planning systems. You must also be skilled in using Microsoft Office applications to a high standard and have experience in consultation with stakeholders.

A current full driving licence with no pending issues is a requirement for each post.

An application form, job description and personnel specification, together with other relevant details may be obtained from the Personnel Section on 01234 845025. Please state which post you are applying for.

Completed application forms must be returned no later than Friday 28 August 2009.

There will be a requirement for the successful candidate to wear Corporate Clothing.

Bedfordshire & Luton Fire & Rescue Service particularly welcomes applications from women, people from ethnic minorities and disabled people (Ss 48 & 38 of the Sex Discrimination and Race Relations Acts apply) who are under-represented in this area of work.

HUGE SAVINGS

Against main dealer prices
Quality service at affordable prices...

Our customers come from all over the country because of our good name and personal service. Our workshop is not housed behind a flashy reception area where you hand your keys over and your car disappears not to be seen again until you pay your bill. We run an open workshop where the customer is shown what's wrong with their car and you can discuss the solutions with the engineer.

Servicing to above main dealer standards. Audi trained technicians.

Cubs halt Bradwell's victory roll

Morrants Four Counties Division One

TOP of the table New Bradwell were dealt their first defeat of the season at the hands of Cublington.

Visitors Cublington set a huge total of 292-4 thanks to Pip Webb's unbeaten 127 and Andy Goldberg's 67.

New Bradwell came close as Teemoor Alam (84no) and Aky Hussien (79) dominated the innings, but the side were dismissed and Cublington won by 11 runs.

Old Bradwell lost by eight wickets at home to North Crawley.

Old Bradwell struggled to 129-7 in their allocated overs as Richard Braybrook took 3-31.

Glenn Young (59) and Matt Goss (41no) guided North Crawley to the win.

Newport Pagnell took six points from their draw with Elstow.

They were set a target of 214-5, with Tom Wisson hitting 96 for Elstow, and they managed to hold on for the draw finishing at 162-9.

Milton Keynes City picked up a convincing nine wicket win against Winslow Town.

Town were all out for just 106 runs, and City matched the score with ease losing just Chris Timms (35) on the way to the win.

Cherwell League Division One

BLETCHLEY Town fell five runs short of victory at home to Oxford Downs.

It was Oxford who were put in to bat first and they were soon reeling at 30-2 before Wes Bartlett and Tom Couch (53) added 121 runs for the third wicket.

Bartlett went on to register 110 as Downs finished on 233-7, James Sprittles was the pick of the bowlers with a fantastic 6-64.

Bletchley had to get off to a good start, and they did with Ed Packard getting 59 from 61 balls, but he was caught and they were 99-1 after 20 overs.

A number of wickets fell either side of Graham Simpson's century, and when he was stumped for 107 Bletchley needed 12 from the final over.

Alex Kilbey and Mark Roberts were dismissed and the side could only manage one run, when they need six, from the final delivery.

Northants Premier League

STONY Stratford slipped to tenth following a four wicket defeat to Northampton Saints.

Seven of Stony's batsmen made double figures, but John Lambe was the top scorer with 27.

It meant Stony finished their innings with 171-9 and they would have thought victory was theirs when they dismissed three Saints players for ducks.

But Mark Nelson (69), Jason Dunkley (45) and Richard Ashton (28no) guided the side to victory.

Red Bull one-two as Webber wins

YIPPEE! – it was one word Mark Webber had waited 130 races to say as he crossed the chequered flag to win his first Grand Prix.

The Australian driver had been desperate to get the 'monkey off his back' ahead of the German race and he did it in style, even though he was handed a drive through penalty.

Starting from pole for the first time in his eight years in the sport, he bumped into Brawn GP's Rubens Barrichello on the first corner and served the penalty on lap 14.

From then on Webber continued to set the pace, and Sebastian Vettel followed him over the line to confirm the second consecutive one-two finish for Red Bull Racing.

Webber, 32, said: "It was a very special day. Personally, for me it was very nice but the fact that the team also got another one-two seems to have got ignored, but that was also very important. It's just great to finally get the victory."

There was no time for celebrating as Webber flew back to England on Sunday, and was in the Tilbrook-based factory on Monday for the debriefing.

It also doubled up as a chance for Webber to thank the factory workers as Red Bull continue to heat up the championship battle.

Webber said: "As an intro for me, they played the recording of my car-to-pit radio as I crossed the line. I didn't realise how long I was shouting for!"

Youngster makes England U-16 basketball squad

Harry Turner

A YOUNG basketball player from Milton Keynes has been called up to the England squad for this summer's European Under-16s championships in Portugal.

Harry Turner, a pupil at Shenley Brook End, has the opportunity to make a name for himself as one of Europe's rising basketball stars following an impressive season with MK Lions U15s and men's reserve team.

The team was whittled down from 21 to 12 and will play a series of friendlies with games to come against Holland and Belgium in the next two weeks.

Fifteen-year-old Turner's progress has been helped by his sponsors Jazz Apples, who set up Team Jazzto develop the careers of Britain's emerging sporting talent.

Turner said: "Gaining the Jazz Apples sponsorship in November really gave me a confidence boost and enabled me to dedicate myself to my basketball. I'm also privileged to be working with the MK Lions, I feel like my game is constantly improving and being selected for the European Championships has been a great reward. Representing my country is both an honour and a massive commitment involving hours of daily training whilst juggling my GCSEs, but it will be worth it when we hit the court in Portugal."

Medals for MK athletes

IT was the lesser known members of Marshall Milton Keynes Athletics Club who triumphed at the UK Championships and World Trials.

Runner Kadi-Ann Thomas was the star performer as she came away from the Birmingham meeting with two medals, while Mervyn Luckwell took gold and Joey Duck and Hannah Douglas collected silver.

Marcin Fudelej also broke a MMKAC record in the 10,000metres with a time of 30 minutes 30.53seconds, which earned him 13th place, and Craig Pickering came fourth in the men's 100m final.

Thomas, 23, had a difficult task on her hands in the 100m semi-final as she ran against favourite Joice Maduaka. It was Maduaka in the heats who stormed across the line in 11.45s and Thomas was at her heels as she clinched second in an incredible 11.46s to reach the final.

Maduaka was always the one to beat but no-one could do it as she won gold in 11.52s, but Thomas gave her a good run for her money by taking silver with a time of 11.52s.

Twenty-four-year-old Luckwell was the only MK athlete to walk away from the championships with gold.

Luckwell was well ahead in the javelin and was the clear winner with a throw of 77.70m, second placed Chris Hughff was 7.23m behind.

Thomas and Duck then took to the track for the 200m running in separate semi-final heats. Duck qualified in second with 23.79s, and Thomas won her heats in 23.62s.

The club team mates went head to head in the final and it was Duck who caused the upset by taking second in 23.62s, behind Emily Freeman, and Thomas grabbed bronze with a time of 23.63s.

Douglas set a club record with her 400m hurdles time of 57.50s, which also earned her silver.

The spotlight was once again on the men's 100m with the likes of Pickering, Dwain Chambers, Simeon Williamson and Tyrone Edgar all competing.

Pickering came second in his semi-final heat with 10.32s, trailing Chambers but the final proved too strong.

Williamson set a season best as he won in 10.05s and Pickering trailed in fourth with 10.33s.

Long jumper Greg Rutherford was due to compete but was forced to withdraw when a scan revealed a minor strain to his hamstring.

SPORTSSHORTS

Poulter eyes open

ALL eyes will be on Turnberry this week as the 138th Open Championship takes place.

Woburn golf professional Ian Poulter finished in second, four strokes behind last year's winner Pádraig Harrington.

Poulter, 33, is looking forward to the competition which starts on Thursday and knows he can not live off his second place finish this time round.

He said: "I finished second and I'm not going to hold that as high as some of my wins. You don't strive to finish second and that's what will make me practice harder and harder."

Student makes a point

A STUDENT from Bury Lawn School has been selected to represent Team GB at the European Youth Olympic Festival in Tampere, Finland from 18-25 July this summer.

Samuel Taylor-Outridge is currently Buckinghamshire Schools javelin champion and is second in the UK rankings.

On Friday Taylor-Outridge took part in the under 17 boys javelin event in the English Schools Athletics Championships at the Don Valley Stadium in Sheffield.

And his throw of 64.23 metres saw him crowned the winner.

Headmaster John Moreland, an international athlete who is also competing in the World Masters Athletic Championships, said: "We are obviously thrilled for Sam and have been supporting his sporting career as well as his academic pursuits."

"Bury Lawn School is successful in its aim of providing a family atmosphere in which everybody is valued as an individual and is encouraged to reach their full potential within a disciplined yet caring atmosphere", concludes the latest Independent Schools Inspectorate report.

Dedicated gymnast

A LOCAL gymnast is enjoying a great deal of success.

Jenny Beckett, from Old Stratford, has been praised by her coach for the hard work which has seen her improve dramatically this past year.

Her first achievement came in March when she successfully passed national club grade eight, finishing in eighth place from the competition which include over 20 gymnasts.

Beckett then took silver on the bars in the Bucks County competition and fourth in the county squad. After qualifying for the regional finals she came eighth.

Aylesbury Gymnastics Academy coach Nikki Woodward said: "Jenny is very dedicated and deserves a lot of credit."

Easter needs TLC to egg him on

Dons boss says new signing needs 'an arm around him'

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

NEW MK Dons signing Jermaine Easter needs an arm around him to bring the best out of him, according to Paul Ince.

The Welsh international agreed a two-year deal with the Dons to become Ince's second signing in as many days, after Jemal Johnson returned to the club on Monday.

Moving to stadiummk means Easter turns his back on a hit-and-miss two years at Plymouth Argyle.

In his second season Easter fell out of favour, was sent out on loan and suffered medial ligament damage, but the 27-year-old wants to start on a clean slate at the Dons.

He said: "I asked to leave Plymouth for certain reasons, I got injured and then I was suspended so last year was difficult. I'm glad just to put that behind me, I just want to forget about that and look forward."

"When I went to Plymouth it was to take another step forward, not essentially to take a step backwards, but I don't think there is a better club that I could have come to, to take that step forward."

Dons manager Ince, who took his first training session yesterday, thinks the former-Wycombe player can make a huge impact, he said: "I think he kind of lost his way at Plymouth. You've got to give belief in him and if you give him belief you've got a top, top player. He's got that bit of swagger about him, which I think you need as a striker. He's got that ruthlessness about him, a great attitude and he wants to move up the leagues."

"He's hungry for success, and he's a very good accusation to the team and he will score you goals."

Watching over the double training session with Ince was his newly appointed assistant Karl Robinson, and former Dundee player-manager Alex Rae, who could join the coaching staff on a permanent basis.

For the likes of Dean Lewington, Danny Swailes and Luke Howell it was a case of learning from a familiar face, but most of the players were meeting Ince for the first time.

And Ince has already told his team he will be ruthless, he said: "We've got a lot more work to do before they hit the ground running. It's new to them, some of them don't know the way I work. Some don't know the demands I put on them, and on myself and if they don't know they will learn in the next couple of weeks. The ones who can't stand up to those demands and my standards won't be here."

But today was a good session, they worked really well."

A number of trialists were in attendance, and it is expected that Ince will give a number of them a run out in the Dons' pre-season friendly against Windsor and Eton this Saturday, and Tuesday's match at Hampton & Richmond Borough.
